It has been pointed out by Capt. McKenney that under the provisions of the National Defense act, passed by Congress last June, members of the Coast Artillery Company at the school would be ineligible, as National Guardsmen are barred. A discharge from the District service, he said, would be necessary, as was the case with the students at Yale.

SHE WANTED TO BE SAFE.

Appleton, Wis., Nov. 10.—"Up home most of the people carry revolvers, and I thought I had better take one with me when I came to Appleton. It is dangerous in the big cities, they told me, and I wanted to be safe."

This was the excuse given by a young girl from Norway, Mich., who caused a mild panic on a street car here when a big revolver which she carried in a handbag dropped to the floor of the car. The girl stood and hastily picked up the weapon, placing it in her handbag, by the conductor, who saw her, fearing trouble, called a policeman. Investigation showed that the girl wanted a weapon and she was turned over to the civil relief head of the city.
